“This rebrand solidifies our market presence in Vietnam,” Martin Crawford, co-founder and CEO of Acclime remarked. “Despite the challenges and uncertainties due to the Covid-19 outbreak, Vietnam weathered the economic storm well and maintained its attraction as a bright spot for FDI. The country’s economy is one of only a few that has grown during the past year, and the growth is projected to continue on the back of interest by the international business community. The rebranding of Domicile to Acclime is an important step in offering our clients seamless service delivery in whichever market they work with us. This can be for foreign clients entering Vietnam or to support our Vietnamese clients who wish to expand regionally.”
